

Abstract

A display device including a plurality of display panels, at least one of the panels having a dimension differing in at least one aspect from a corresponding dimension of another panel. The invention also includes 5 sets of display panels for use with such a display device, and related display methods.

2007-03-09 10:00:00